

In university, I am studying for 3D Animation and game development. My goal in this course is to develop my programming skills within games learn new languages and programs along the way and progress my skills for the industry. I have chosen this course as I am interested in programming and I have always had an interest in programming within games. I have finished and completed my first year with this diploma, and I have recently completed my second year. The fact that I have been able to accomplish this much so far makes me so happy.

Within my spare time, I love giving up my time in scouting. I have been scouting for over 14 years +. For the past 3 years, I have been asked to take on a role high up within scouting for managing the area web operating service and take the part of the Area and District youth commissioner. Within my position, I manage and take charge of all the scout groups within the Conwy district area. In my role, I have to manage how the young people are getting on within their groups by setting up modules for them to complete and having a session with young people to see how we can improve their scout group. Plus I have taken many young people around the UK for events we have been invited to and within the local areas. During all this I dedicate my time every Tuesday to teaching young people by scouting to learn new things, we do lots of visits to different places such as the RNLI lifeboat center to learn how people risk their lives to save others and how Young people can stay safe at sea. During our visit, we donated £40 as a group to help the RNLI buy equipment to help others in trouble. When we are not visiting places we like to play games and learn about others and what that means to us as a way of learning. And learn things such as rope knots and camping skills.

During the lockdown, I took my time and self-taught myself how to start a small business for web design, Throughout my time learning and developing I was able to get some freelancing commissions and create some stunning websites for people around the UK, I worked really hard and had people over the UK contacting me to help create a website for there own use or business. Throughout this time I was really happy and over the moon about how far I have come. But as I wanted to start college and pursue my dream I put aside my business and started gaining my dream as a programmer within a AAA game company.

Plus In my spare time, I enjoy creating games, and scripts for fun, I enjoy doing this as I want to improve my skills and knowledge in programming and with that, I love helping friends with projects and helping create/finish projects they/we have started. I am always passionate about what work I do as I can develop it and create something new or continue something I love I am interested/passionate about catching my dreams and working in a AAA game company so within this I would like to work my way up and start and complete a degree in games development and this is what I am hoping to do. I am focused on programming as I have been learning and developing my programming skills for years but most of all within the games industry I enjoy messing around with code/blueprints the most, but that's where I learn and create something awesome. But overall within myself and creating games I want to create a game(s) that everyone loves and is super stuck to the game and have a big hit with it and have thousands of downloads.
